Dear Parents

As we come to the end of the term with the holiday just around the corner, it is time to pause and reflect.

I would start by personally thanking you for the confidence and trust you continue to have in us. I am the first to say that this year hasn't always been plain sailing but together with your unstinting support we have made it to the end of a long, and in so many ways, a successful first term.

I am proud to say that the positive can-do attitude across ESF is very much alive and well. The sheer sense of joy your children feel from being together with their teachers in school makes the effort of what we are all doing worthwhile. Seizing the moment to make every day matter has become more important than ever – as they say 'life is not a dress rehearsal'.

I understand the disappointment of not being able to travel, amplified for those who are separated from loved ones over the festive period. I share in the hope that travel will be possible during summer.

For now, it is time for the holiday, time to relax and have fun with your family and friends. Let's make every moment of the holiday count.

Enjoy!

Wishing you all a Merry Christmas.
